ADMITS WOMAN TO COURT BAIL

At Close of Habeas Corpus Proceedings in New Castle Mrs. Johnson is Allowed to Give Bond.

YOUNG PORTER, STAR WITNESS

Prevailing Opinion is That State Does Not Have a Case Against Spiceland Woman.

The habeas corpus proceedings, which were begun Thursday morning in the Henry circuit court to get the release on bail of Mrs. Elta Johnson of Spiceland, came to an end last evening, the State's attorneys declining to submit any evidence. After an eloquent appeal by the attorney for Mrs. Johnson for nominal bail, so that she might return to her children, Judge Jackson admitted her to bail. He said the amount would be made known by him today, but that it would not be more than $5,000 and possibly considerably less. Bail will be furnished by friends of the accused woman in Montgomery county. Predictions are made that the case will be dismissed for lack of sufficient evidence to convict.

Unless the State has a trump card, which it has not played yet, it will not be able to fasten the crime of murder on Mrs. Johnson. Mrs. Johnson may have been indiscreet at times, but the State had in no way, up until a late hour yesterday, connected her with the crime for which she was arrested. Such was the belief about the court house yesterday, following the examination of Clarence Porter of Crawfordsville, the State's star witness.

Prosecutor Evans, however, contends that he is in possession of evidence which will not be produced at this hearing, which is of a convincing nature. He stated last night that certain evidence would be produced only when the defendant is placed on trial charged with murder.

Clarence Porter was easily the star witness in the proceedings yesterday. He testified that certain letters, alleged to have been written by Mrs. Johnson to him, were received by him. According to New Castle papers, he was the man with the elastic memory, as he answered the greater number of his questions with "I don't remember." The general conclusion was that his evidence was not very damaging to Mrs. Johnson, in respect to the charge which has been filed against her.

Several witnesses were placed on the stand, including James B. Garner, professor of chemistry in Wabash College, who examined the stomach of the dead man. His testimony was that carbolic acid had been found. Dr. Barens who conducted the autopsy, testified, and the deposition of Dr. George E. Clements, another Crawfordsville physician, was read, he being unable to be present.

A PECULIAR PROBLEM.

Subtract 45 from 45 and have 45 left. It can be done, strange to say. Here is the method: Put down the numerals 1 to 9 in a row in reverse order; underneath place the same numerals in regular order. The sum of the figures in each row is 45; subtract the lower row from the upper:

9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2 1=45
1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9=45

8 6 4 1 9 7 5 3 2=45

The sum of the third row of figures is also 45. Thus you have taken 45 from 45 and have 45 as a remainder.

SOCIAL SESSION.

BREAKS LEG IN TUMBLE

Mrs. Mary Feaster Falls Into Ditch and is Hurt.

Mrs. Mary Feaster, wife of Manfred E. Feaster, south of St. Paul, had the misfortune to fall in a ditch and break her leg. An excavation was being made for a new building at the Feaster home and Mrs. Feaster, unthoughtfully left the house after night and fell into the excavation with above results. Dr. F. M. Howard of St. Paul was called and dressed the injury.

BEAT A WOMAN AND NOW HE'S IN JAIL

Henry Kiplinger of Several Cities. Arrested Here, Was Indicted by Henry County Grand Jury.

MADE A FALSE AFFIDAVIT

Henry Kiplinger, one of the fly-by-night contractors, of which there has been a number in New Castle, is now paying the fiddler for his music, says the New Castle Courier. Kiplinger was awarded the contract for painting and decorating the Butler hospital. As he was dealing with a woman, Kiplinger thought he saw a chance to take advantage of her and he did so. When settlement was made he made an affidavit that all bills for labor and material on the job had been paid. Then it was that "Kip" back to the "tall and uncut."

This little transaction reached the grand jury's ears and an indictment was returned. The warrant was sent to Shelby county and a search for the man was instituted there. On Thursday, Kiplinger was located in Rushville, where he had been for four weeks. His arrest followed and he was brought to this city Thursday night and jailed.

SAID HE WOULD HAVE HER ARRESTED

Stranger Told Belated Story of Unknown Woman and Connersville Man at Police Headquarters.

DIDN'T MAKE THREATS GOOD

It was a sad and belated story that a man, whose name was not learned, told at police headquarters yesterday afternoon. He said that a woman, not mentioning the relation which existed between them, had been in the habit of meeting a man from Connersville here and that he was "next" to their game. The stranger told the men at headquarters that she was expecting him on a car yesterday evening and that he intended to watch them and catch them. He declared that if the man came he would notify the police at once and have them arrested. The stranger has not shown up at police headquarters yet and the police have given it up as a "grape vine."

HORSES BRING GOOD PRICES

Many of Two Hundred Dollar Variety Sold at Combination Sale in Davis Barn Today.

SELL SHEEP AND HOGS ALSO

Earl Hinton Disposes of Prize Team of Draft Horses, Shown Here Thursday, For $650.

The large crowd of men that gathered at the Davis Brothers new barn today for the first combination sale is only mute evidence of the fact that the sale has come to stay and that it is meeting with the public demand and approval. When it becomes an established institution in Rushville, local horsemen predict that all of the entries can not be sold in one day. The interest in the sale was great and a large crowd of men, farmers and Rushville residents alike, crowded around the auction stand and made way for the good horse flesh to trot up and down before admiring eyes.

Up until three o'clock this afternoon forty-five head of horses had been sold and many more were to be placed under the hammer. The array of horses presented to the large crowd of buyers was of the ordinary class as no fancy breeds were sold. Two hundred dollar horses were very common, while there were many in the one hundred and fifty dollar class. Many good colts ranging from one to two years old, brought one hundred dollars, most of them being of the heavy draft breed. There were of course, a few "skates" entered in the sale and they were disposed of to the highest bidder. But there were not many of the fifteen and twenty dollar variety offered for sale.

Earl Hinton, a horse fancier of near Glenwood, not waiting for the horse sale, disposed of a valuable draft team yesterday for six hundred and fifty dollars. It will be remembered that the dapple grey team which was shown at the horse show here, won first prize. As soon as Jerry Klotz, an Indianapolis buyer, saw them, he bought them.

Fred Capp acted as auctioneer at the sale this afternoon, while Donald Smith was the clerk. The sale was closed about four o'clock. Aside from the horses, several head of sheep and hogs were sold at a good price, all of them well bred animals.

EXPECT BIG PEACH CROP NEXT YEAR

Charley Hall, Local Expert, Says Bud is Now Sufficiently Protected to Pass Winter.

HAVE HAD NO KILLING FROSTS

An immense peach crop may be expected next year. This is the prediction of Charley Hall, the local pomologist and fruit expert. He assigns as a reason for his prediction, the unusual weather conditions this fall. Up to this time there has been no frost—that is a killing frost. This gave the peach bud ample time to mature and be ready for the winter weather. The peach bud, Mr. Hall says, is now perfect and if no unusual weather conditions will spoil it next spring, a large peach crop may reasonably be expected next year.

The infant mortality of London is 154 a thousand births a year.

MAY MOVE HORSE SHOW UP A WEEK

Rains Creating Trouble in Last Two Annual Events Has Caused Promoters to Think.

SECOND WEEK IN OCT. BETTER

Was Much More Successful This Year on Account of Larger Premium List.

That the date of the annual horse show will be moved up a week next year is the belief of many local people, including a good number of men who are in charge of the affair. The last day's show, by far the best one of the two, was spoiled on account of the rain and it was necessary to make the exhibitions in the big Davis barn. Last year rain interfered and spoiled the first day and part of the second so that it was almost impossible to give the show. The first year that the show was attempted the weather was almost ideal. The weather man's performance during the last two years, has proven conclusively that the show should be given the second week in October rather than the third week. Last year as well as this, the weather for two weeks previous to the show was almost ideal and would have made the horse show a very pleasing occasion. For this reason, if for no other, the show should be given a trial the second week in the fall month. The life of the horse show depends upon its popularity and its popularity depends largely on the number of people who can see it.

That the horse show would be a financial success was assured before the event was ever started. The promoters depend upon the business men largely for their contributions to pay the expenses of the show and the premiums. The entry fee which is charged is nominal and does not bring in a very great revenue. The local merchants entered into the spirit of the occasion this year and displayed a liberality which is very commendable. There is no doubt but what the show will help Rushville and in years to come it will be one of the annual affairs which Rushville residents can point to with pride.

It seemed a very dastardly piece of work for the weather man to interfere yesterday and spoil the best of the two days' show by very disagreeable weather conditions. The light harness events were the most popular ones on the program and were expected to attract the largest crowd. In the light of what happened yesterday, it is the great regret of the managers of the show that the events could not take place in First street, where two squares had been levelled off so that the light harness horses could be shown to a great advantage.

There were nine entries in the gentleman's driving contest, showing the best mare or gelding three years old or over. The list of entries was twice as great as any other year and the standard of the horses shown was far greater. A visiting horseman is quoted as saying that he never hoped to see a finer array of light harness horses shown than was brought out in that event yesterday. One of the men who had a horse in the contest and lost said that he did not regret losing against such competition, for he believed it an honor to have a horse that could show against such a quality of horse flesh.

The ladies contest came up to expectations and was pleasing throughout, there being six entries. The showing of these two events was greatly hampered by the fact that they did not have a very great stretch to show in so that the horses' true merits in action could be seen. The show was made very handily. Continued on page 8.

RETURNS VERDICT IN POSTON CASE

Famous Will Contest Compromised Here Recently, is Taken off Shelby Circuit Court Docket.

FINDS $8,400 AGAINST SON

The Poston will case, which was compromised here recently, was finally removed from the docket of the Shelby circuit court Friday, the entry made by Judge Sparks being as follows: "Trial finding, case heard without jury, that Mrs. Nancy C. Poston was of unsound mind at the time of the making of the will. Judgment in favor of Estella J. Amos. Hester E. Horton and Quincy A. Poston for $8,400 and costs against the estate of Sanford M. Poston."

The case was entitled Quincy Poston, Estella J. Amos, and Hester E. Horton vs. Sanford M. Poston; Sanford M. Poston as executor of the will of Nancy C. Poston; Estella Poston and Annie E. Poston, a complaint to contest the will. The estate was valued at about $25,000 and the case reached the Shelby circuit on a change of venue from this county. Since the suit was filed Sanford M. Poston, who was the chief beneficiary under the will, has died and his death was followed by the compromise of the case.

WAS FOUL PLAY CAUSE OF WRECK?

Rumored That Evidence of Drawn Spikes Was Found at Scene of Cleveland Railway Wreck.

FOUND HAND CAR ON TRACK

A rumor is going the rounds that the Pennsylvania railroad track at Cleveland, where the wreck occurred a few days ago, had been tampered with, says the Greenfield Reporter. The rumor is that a hand car was found on the track and evidences of drawn spikes were found.

Whether there is any foundation for this rumor is not generally known as the railroad officials are keeping any information they may have to themselves.

If anything of the kind was discovered it will probably come to light, only when the officials' investigation of the wreck is made.

SPEECHES COME THICK AND FAST

Politicians Will Invade Every Nook and Corner of Rush County in Last Two Weeks of Campaign

REPUBLICAN RALLY TO CLOSE

Winfield T. Durbin Former Governor of State, Will Speak at K. of P. Building Tonight.

Political speakings will come thick and fast now in the last two weeks of the campaign and almost every nook and corner of Rush county will be invaded by the political bombast. Democrats and Republicans alike will have speakers here in the next two weeks and the campaign will be formally closed the last Saturday before the election, November fifth, when Albert J. Beveridge will speak in the afternoon and James E. Watson at night and the occasion will be made a real old fashioned rally.

Winfield T. Durbin of Anderson, former governor of the State will deliver a Republican address in the Knights of Pythias building tonight. Mr. Durbin comes highly recommended as an orator and he is sure to please a large audience, which it is believed will gather. Mr. Durbin has been here many times and has many friends in the city. For that reason, if for no other, it is thought that he will be greeted by a large audience. Although the former governor has stepped out of an office he has kept well versed on political subjects and is able to discuss the issues of the campaign in a very intellectual manner.

Next week Republican orators will invade the county to give addresses. On Tuesday evening John Kiplinger of this city and A. E. Martin, a former attorney of this city, but now of South Bend will make addresses at Mays at seven-thirty o'clock. On the next night, Wednesday, the same speakers will deliver addresses at Richland at the same time. Thursday night, A. E. Martin and William L. Taylor of Indianapolis will speak at Carthage in the town hall at seven-thirty o'clock. Carthage people are planning to make that the big night of the campaign.

Milroy is planning for an all-day rally one week from today, Saturday, October 29, when speeches will be held in the afternoon and at night. William Harding, a speaker of note, will talk on the issues of the campaign in the afternoon at two o'clock. At night at seven-thirty o'clock John H. Kiplinger and A. E. Martin will speak. A band has been engaged and Milroy residents are looking forward to a big time.

The Democrats are expecting the speech to be delivered by Governor Thomas R. Marshall in the Davis barn next Thursday evening to be the big event of the campaign. The governor has been making a strenuous campaign during the past few weeks and it is believed that he will draw a good crowd here. P. J. Kelleher of Indianapolis will deliver a Democratic address in Milroy tonight. Judge George Gray of Connersville will speak in Arlington Monday night. L. Ert Slack of Franklin will deliver several Democratic speeches over the county, but the dates have not yet been arranged. Samuel P. Ralston of Lebanon, a prominent Democrat, will speak in this city Wednesday, November second.

Can You Spell These Words

E. G. Bunnell, assistant State superintendent of public instruction, to whom has been assigned by Robert J. Ale, State superintendent, the work of preparing for the State-wide spelling tests for next winter among the pupils of the common and high schools of the State, has prepared a list of one hundred words to be used by the contestants. The plan is to select the best speller in every school in the State, from these to select the best in the township, town or city, from these the best in the county, and with the pupils thus selected to form the class for the State test. If arrangements can be made, the best spellers in the State will hold a contest with the best spellers of other States.

The one hundred words chosen by Mr. Bunnell have been selected from a list of words commonly misspelled, and the list is designed to give the pupils an idea of the nature of the test. All the words selected will probably be used in the test. The list prepared by Mr. Bunnell follows:

Manila, Philippine, neuralgia, traffic, separate, receive, believe, aeroplane, chauffeur, susceptible, sincerity, disc, humus, dirigible, icicle, inflammable, iniquitous, rigid, thoracic, vigorous, Rensselaer, February, benefited, embarrass, acquiesce, privilege, parallel, judgment, until, analysis, lettuce, precede, divisible, pursue, origin, fulfill, descendant, government, vertical, prejudice, noticeable, miniature, umbrella, adjacent, similar, foreigner, hygiene, victuals, millinery, sovereign, laboratory, eastern, reverend, cemetery, mischievous, vinegar, bilious, sieve, clevis, celery, diphtheria, dissipate, khaki, harelip, erysipelas, vaccinate, legible, specimen, participate, auxiliary, censure, facilitate, license, serviceable, fugitive, audible, rhinoceros, versatile, bicycle, typical acetylene indelible, millionaire, alpaca, surcingle, mademoiselle, apparition, lachrymal, cavalier, inimitable, dexterity, agility, cylindrical, isosceles, corpse, flute, Delaware.

Beef Is Much Cheaper and Pork is Way Down

Beef is cheaper. This is partly due to the excellent pasturage during the fall. Grass cattle have been marketed freely. Loin steaks have come down from 25 cents to 22 and 20 cents and round steaks from 22 to 20 cents, rib roasts from 20 to 15 and 18 cents. A similar reduction has been made in cheaper grades. Mutton is one to two cents a pound lower.

Butchers say that prospects are good for a reduction in the prices of pork. There is an "if" tacked to the assertion, however, depending on the weather and the price of hogs. As soon as frost comes, the butchers say, meat will be lower, because people will then eat rougher cuts, while now market is still the governing factor. There has recently been a gradual slump. If it continues on down to the $8 level, it will be felt in the retail pork prices.

"With cooler weather we could make a small cut with hogs at $8.50, said one butcher, "and with the price on a $8 basis, we could afford to make a large reduction. For instance, port chops would sell at 18 cents fresh ham at 14 cents, and shoulders at 12½ cents."

The market is long on hams. With cooler weather less smoked ham and more fresh pork will be eaten and this will cause a reduction in the prices of smoked meats.

Bacon is scarce. Everybody eats bacon," said one dealer, "and it is a scarce article. I can't get all that I want." There seems to be no chance for any early reduction in this line. Everybody is waiting for the break in the market," continued the butcher, "and indications are that it will occur in November."

Uncle Sam Plans New Present

Uncle Sam is a source of supply for Santa Claus has switched from gold pieces to stamps. Up to this year the government mints coined large quantities of two-and-a-half dollar gold pieces which were known among the treasury officials as Christmas money. It was decided this year to discontinue the coinage of the gold pieces and now Uncle Sam has placed an order for a large quantity of bright yellow postal savings stamps.

These together with a postal card upon which they are to be pasted, represented a deposit in Uncle Sam's new postal savings bank. In order to stimulate savings among the youngsters of Yankee Land, Uncle Sam has gone to great expense to furnish an attractive stamp. It is expected that there will be a great demand for these stamps at Christmas time.

The card upon which the stamps are pasted will cost ten cents and will be in fact a bank "book." It represents the initial deposit of ten cents. Each card holds nine stamps which cost ten cents each. This may be exchanged for a dollar certificate.

With the use of the stamps for Christmas presents, will arise the question of whether the postmasters may be required or may lawfully do a "mail order business" for the postal saving system will only be installed in one or possibly two offices in each State this year.

This question has not been decided by the officials. They are of the opinion, however, that if the mail orders for savings stamps do not reach a very big amount for any one office it will be allowable for a postmaster to fill mail orders until more postal depositories are established. Generally speaking, however, the postal savings system is not to be a mail order institution and each man is to be required to deposit his money in his home town in order to keep depositories within the legal limit of $100 a month for postal deposits.

SAGE FOR DARKENING THE HAIR.

There is nothing new about the idea of using sage for restoring the color of the hair. Our great-grandmothers kept their locks soft, dark and glossy by using a "sage tea." Whenever their hair fell out or took on a dull, faded or streaked appearance, they made a brew of sage leaves and applied it to their hair with wonderfully beneficial effect. Nowadays we don't have to resort to the old-time, tiresome method of gathering the herbs and making the brew. This is done by skillful chemists better than we could do it ourselves, and all we have to do is to call for the ready-made product. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, containing sage in the proper strength, with the addition of Sulphur, another old-time scalp remedy. This preparation is sold by all first-class druggists for 50c. and $1.00 a bottle, or is sent direct by the Wyeth Chemical Company, 74 Cortlandt St., New York City, upon receipt of price.

For sale and recommended by Hargrove & Mullin.

FAILED TO GET DESIRED DATA

Railway Commission Turned Down By Big Four.

YOUNG TELEGRAPH OPERATORS

In an Effort to Push the Movement to Weed Boys Out of the Railway Service the Indiana State Railroad Commission Demanded Data Regarding Age of Operators on the Big Four, and Was Spurned.

Indianapolis, Oct. 22.—H. F. Houghton, general superintendent of the Big Four Railroad company, has declined, on the advice of counsel, to furnish the railroad commission with data showing the ages and service records of telegraph operators employed on the company's lines, and has been officially notified that the commission will go into the Marion county courts in an attempt to compel him to supply the information.

The formal demand was made on Mr. Houghton for the desired information after the commission had completed its investigation of the recent wreck at Brightwood. The company at that time was requested to furnish information as to ages, terms of service, etc., of its telegraph operators in general, but declined to do so, and supplied the information only as it concerned telegraph operators who were in any way connected with the Brightwood disaster.

In the formal demand made on Mr. Houghton the commission reviewed the evidence and findings in the wrecks at Sandford and Fowler on the Big Four, in which a large number of lives were lost. The general assembly, in 1907, directed the commission to make investigations of these disasters. In its finding in the cases the commission said that the telegraph operators engaged in train operation were less than twenty-one years old, some of them as young as seventeen or eighteen years. Specialists employed by the commission at that time said that the average man under twenty-one years of age was not fitted for the careful work necessary in handling trains, and the commission recommended that the Big Four and all other roads of the state cease to employ telegraph operators under twenty-one years of age.

MINING LAWS

Reports of Their Violations in Indiana During the Past Year.

Indianapolis, Oct. 22.—James Epperson, state mine inspector, whose report for the last fiscal year will be issued shortly from the press of the state printer, has reported to the governor 188 violations of the state mining laws by miners, mine owners, mine bosses and mine superintendents for the period covered by the report. Prosecutions were brought by the inspector under virtually every statute on the books relating to the mining of coal. It has been charged against the department that its activities in prosecution have been directed chiefly against the miners, but a glance over the report shows that the mine bosses and superintendents have felt the hand of the inspector to a greater degree than the miners, when the relative number of such persons employed in the coal mines is taken into account.

Evident wanton disregard of the laws designed to protect the miner from his own carelessness is noted in a number of the prosecutions. Several were prosecuted for opening kegs of powder with coal picks. Others were prosecuted for drilling holes for blasting charges of greater diameter than is permitted by statute. This statute was passed following an investigation of a mine disaster at Seelyville, Vigo county, which was traced to dangerously large drill holes. Faulty machinery and failure to provide the most rudimentary safety requirements in the mines are charged against mine bosses, superintendents and owners.

Vincennes, Ind., Oct. 22.—Chester Dale, charged with murdering Carl Miller, his brother-in-law, on July 7, was acquitted by the jury after the jury had deliberated for seventeen hours. Dale pleaded self-defense, and the case was given to the jury without closing argument from his attorney.

MORGAN WILL PROVIDE FUNDS

Church Unity Project Has Substantial Backer.

TO BE FINANCIAL MANAGER

If Money Will Accomplish Unification of Christian Denominations It Would Seem as if the Right Man Had Taken Hold, J. Pierpont Morgan Being Named as the Financial Manager of the Interesting Project.

Cincinnati, Oct. 22.—Before the final adjournment of the forty-third general convention of the Protestant Episcopal church, an impetus was given to the serious movement toward church unity by the gift of $100,000 toward a fund for the bringing about of a world's conference of representatives of all Christian churches. Rev. Dr. William Manning, rector of Trinity church, New York city, in making the announcement of this gift, said that the donor was a lay deputy to the convention, but wished his name withheld. However, it was generally understood that J. Pierpont Morgan of New York made the gift and this was verified in reliable quarters. Mr. Morgan is taking a great interest in this movement, which was one of the most dominant notes of the convention.

Mr. Morgan will be the financial manager of this movement. A joint conference on the world movement has been organized. Bishop Anderson of Chicago is president; J. P. Morgan treasurer, and Robert E. Gardiner of Gardiner, Me., secretary. A committee on plans, of which Dr. Manning is chairman, was formed to prepare a careful statement as to the objects and methods of procedure, which will be discussed at a meeting of the commission to be called at an early date. J. Pierpont Morgan and his party of distinguished guests whom he has entertained here, left for New York today.

THE WORLD'S SERIES

Chance's Men Have a Mighty Slim Chance to Retrieve Losses.

Chicago, Oct. 22.—Postponement of Friday's game on account of rain brought considerable relief to the Cubs. They will not be forced to make another trip to Philadelphia unless they show a remarkable reversal of their present form and defeat the Athletics in the next two games. If they succeed in capturing today's game, local fans are assured of a Sunday battle on the west side.

It is only a forlorn hope now that the Cubs will be able to stop the Athletics. To win four straight games from such a combination as Connie Mack's is a 100-to-1 shot, as the Cubs' pitching staff is all shot to pieces. The twirling of Coombs and Bender has been too much for the former world's champions, and it looks very much as if Chance and his men will have to be satisfied this year with the second honors in the baseball world.

Aldrich Between Two Dangers.

New York, Oct. 22.—Nelson W. Aldrich, senior United States senator from Rhode Island, was crossing Madison avenue at Sixty-second street, when a taxicab bore down on him. In jumping out of the way he got in front of a Madison avenue car. He was thrown two or three yards, but in such a manner as to be out of the path of the car. The senator walked the two blocks to his son's apartments without any assistance, and aside from a slight cut on the left temple, was unharmed.

Husband Collapses in Court.

Charleston, W. Va., Oct. 22.—During the trial of Thomas Wayne, colored, charged with assault and murder, John Alliff, husband of the murdered woman, collapsed in the witness box as he identified the negro prisoner and named him as the assailant and slayer of Mrs. Alliff. Alliff was so affected by the scene that he had to be carried from the courtroom. The charge is that the negro and an accomplice struck down Alliff and then murdered the latter's wife, some months ago.

Tobacco Sales Help Kentucky Banks.

Frankfort, Ky., Oct. 22.—Chief James Ramey of the banking department of the secretary of state, says in an official statement given out here that banks in the burley district that loaned money on tobacco will suffer no loss as the tobacco, if sold at the lowest price, will bring enough to pay all the loans. He says that business will be benefited, as the banks will have money to lend to other enterprises as soon as the tobacco is sold.

He Forestalled Prosecution.

Washington, Oct. 22.—At least one importer in New York has paid back to the government profits which he made through undervaluations. The offer of this importer was entirely unexpected by the federal officials, and his money was accepted with the understanding that his name would not be disclosed or criminal proceedings begun against him.

Anxiety For Gulf Steamer.

New Orleans, Oct. 22.—The steamer Bluefields, carrying a crew of twenty-seven men and the wife of the captain is believed to have been lost in the hurricane which swept over the Gulf of Mexico.

Arrange your affairs so as to be at home on election day.

The election is held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November. This is November 8.

King Manuel says he has not abdicated, but we never knew anyone to umpire a game successfully from the seclusion of someone's back office.

By 1912 the candidates will have to take aeroplane tours. How fine they will look up above the clouds delivering speeches to 40 square miles by megaphone.

There is considerable discussion as to who the mantle of Senator Aldrich will fall on, but it looks as if it did not accord with the fall clothing styles of 1910.

This is the derndest campaign, anyhow. Beveridge speaks on child labor, some stand for no labor at all, and then there are fellers who say let the wimmen do the work.

George Bernard Shaw favors a $2,500 pension for everyone from birth. There seems to be no reason why this privilege should any longer be reserved to caucus packers and convention swingers.

Barnard Makes Good

One of the very best political meetings of the local campaign was that which was held at Harrisburg, Thursday night, says the Connersville News.

Walter Bossert introduced Congressman Barnard, the principal speaker of the evening, after delivering a brief address in which he touched upon the larger issues of the campaign. Judge Barnard's address which occupied about an hour was one of the soundest and most convincing that he ever gave. The Interstate Railway Commission, the tariff, and other acts of legislation, both past and prospective were handled by him in a way that showed intimate knowledge, both of the measures discussed and of the wishes and needs of the Old Burnt district as a whole.

It is of interest to note that in this community, which is not, perhaps, as strongly Republican normally as others in which Judge Barnard has spoken, but where the people are, it is believed, as general and as independent readers and thinkers as could be found in any rural district in Indiana, Congressman Barnard received one of the most cordial receptions ever accorded him. His speech was heard with the closest attention. Applause was frequent and it had in it the ring of sincerity. It was apparent to anyone who observed the audience, last night, and who listened to the general talk before and after the meeting, that the people were for Congressman Barnard, not because of their personal friendship for him, though that is strong, nor yet entirely because their objection to his opponent. They are for him because of the things he has done, and because of the things which they know he will do when the voters of his district send him back to Washington again. Much the same feeling operates in the case of Mr. Bossert. He is not known for past service in the office which he is seeking to gain, as is Judge Barnard, but he is known for a clean record of law practice and private citizenship and for ability and honesty and ambition.

After the close of the Congressman's speech a wholesale hand-shaking occupied half an hour. A large company of Connersville folk were present, as were many from the uttermost parts of the township.

Light Comment

The Rushville City Council has agreed with the Merchants' Association for the installation of a system of the pedestal street lights, such as the local light company is exhibiting here, says the Connersville Examiner. Several blocks will be lighted, the merchants to furnish a part of the equipment and the city to do the installing. Each post will carry five lights, the one on top to be a hundred watt light and the other four sixty watt. The big light will be burned all night, while the four smaller ones will be turned out at ten o'clock, except on Saturday nights, when they will burn till twelve o'clock. The lights will be installed at once so that the underground conduits may be placed in while the streets are torn up for the brick paving that is being done.

VICTORY IN THE AIR

Progressive Republicanism's Tremendous Headway in Indiana.

(Special Correspondence.)

Indianapolis, Oct. 22.—The Republican host is like an army with banners, stepping to war music, confident, exultant, jubilant. The struggle is on. The advance has begun. Democrats are unable to stem the advance or to turn the tide. Victory is in the air. It is the same the state over. Progressive Republicanism has made tremendous headway among the Democrats! Taggart's organization is helpless in the confusion that prevails in the Democratic camp. There are no leaders to rally men for Taggartism. There are no leaders who can gather the forces together under the banner of the special interests. The brewers are unable to accomplish much for the Democratic ticket. The Democratic state candidates have failed to draw any positive strength. The congressional ticket on the Democratic side has been weakened to ineffectiveness by Taggart's dictation and blundering. Taggart domination has done its work, and the Democratic party, under Taggart is a whipped and demoralized bunch. This condition gives Republicans new confidence and new energy. And the work that remains to be done will be done with a will and with thoroughness.

Republicans now are confident they will elect the state ticket entire and that they will gain several seats in the national house, and gain comfortable control of the Indiana legislature. The trend is toward Republicanism, and the trend is remarkably strong. There are many good reasons why voters should be drawn to the Republican cause. There are many good reasons why the voter is repelled by the Taggart campaign and its conduct. This has been a good year in which to shake off the Taggart shackles and declare a new independence of bossism. Democrats by the scores have done just that thing. In Marion county the thirty day poll shows precinct after precinct with forty to fifty Democrats who have given their names as Republicans this year. Many of these are Beveridge Democrats. Many of them are prepared to hit a Taggart henchman wherever he appears on a Democratic ticket. The whole Republican cause is bound to gain tremendously as a result.

The reports are much the same from other parts of the state. The Democrats are on the run. They have subsided since the thirty day poll. By their own figures they are down and out. Efforts to chirp up the "boys" have been without avail. They figure as Stokes Jackson figures, that the party is shot to pieces. The Democratic worker in the precinct, knowing how his own precinct stands, and knowing that others must be the same, is inconsolable. He cannot see how Taggart can win. It is the same with Stokes Jackson. He knows that his home county, Hancock, is on the point of sliding over into the Republican lineup. He feels that Hancock is not unlike other counties, and that other counties must be landsliding about the same way. So he has been down in the mouth and hopeless for many weeks. He has been not only sick at heart but peevish.

The other day an Indianapolis newspaper printed a letter signed "A Democrat." This letter attacked Taggart and Jackson bitterly, and told painful truths in most blunt fashion. Jackson read the article and was wroth. He denounced a reporter for the newspaper and refused to give the reporter any "items" for his paper, all because some Democrat had taken a shot at his own state chairman. Jackson is known as the standing joke in Indiana politics. His own party men are ashamed of him. He is kept in the background when visitors are in headquarters from out of the state. He is thrust here and there, superseded by others at the whim of Boss Taggart, and is much given, these days, to weeping over his fallen political estate.

Jackson as state chairman in Indiana is much the same sort of frost and joke that Tom Taggart was in New York when acting as national chairman of Democrats. Taggart was shoved far back in a cubby-hole of a rear room, and all the offices in Democratic national headquarters were taken by Gus Belmont, Thomas F. Ryan and the bosses who knew how to act and how to wear their clothes, how to meet strangers grammatically, and how to carry off an appearance of gentility. Taggart was ill at ease, red and awkward in that New York crowd. In fact he was another Stokes Jackson, out of place, helpless and impotent.

So the whole Democratic campaign is coming to be a joke. And Taggart is not helping things a bit by peddling slanderous stories about Republicans. The campaign has gone too far to permit anyone to give credit to Taggart campaign lies. The fight is over. The hard work of getting out the votes is yet to be done. But the fight is won.

Going After Gamblers.

Free Seed Testing for Farmers

After being closed from July to September, when practically no samples are as a rule sent in for inspection and analysis, the seed testing laboratory of Purdue Experiment Station has been reopened and is now ready to receive and analyze for Indiana Farmers and Seed Dealers samples of small seeds.

The laboratory was established in February, 1910, by the Seed Laboratory of the Bureau of Plant Industry, U. S. Department of Agriculture in co-operation with the Agricultural Extension Department of Purdue University. Since its establishment, it has examined and reported upon 803 samples. These reports give to the senders an accurate estimate of the kinds of weed seed impurities present and the number of seeds of each kind present per pound of seed, of the quality sent, adulterations present and amount of each, amount of inert matter present, weed seeds scattered on each square rod of land when seed of a given quality is used, also the per cent. of seed of the kind sent that will germinate. All these things the farmer should know about the seed before he makes his selection of seed to go on the ground. Many a farmer is a heavy loser because he puts in his seed without knowing these things, thereby befouling his farm with weeds and getting a poor stand by reason of the low vitality of the seed. The careful examination of seed before buying and sowing is now recognized to be indispensable in successful crop production. A farmer or seed dealer may do this for himself or he may take advantage of the free testing laboratory provided at the Purdue Experiment Station. Expert and accurate work can be depended upon. The laboratory is in a position this season to make reports promptly. Germination tests, it may be stated, take from six days for Clover and Alfalfa to thirty days for Bluegrass. A purity test can be made in a few hours.

Farmers and dealers are urged to take advantage of this opportunity of getting advice and assistance in selecting high grade seed. Of Clover or Alfalfa seed, send two or three ounces taken from different parts of sacks or bins where possible; of Grass seed, one to one and a half ounces will suffice. Address Agricultural Extension Department, Purdue Experiment Station, Lafayette, Ind.

A. COW WORTH OWNING.

Some cows may give better milk but no cow in the world gives so much of it as Josephine, an eight-year-old Holstein-Friesian, the queen of the herd of the Missouri State College of Agriculture. Just now Josephine is undergoing a test to determine how much milk she will give in a year. Having already broken all other lactate records it is a pretty safe bet that Josephine will establish a clear title to the heavy-weight milk producing championship and hold it safe for some time.

Colanthe 4th Johanna, owned in Rosendale, Wisconsin, used to be the prize cow, but Josephine has beaten everyone of her records. In the first six months of the present test Josephine produced 16,834 pounds of milk against 15,541 pounds for Colanthe. In one day Josephine produced 110.2 pounds of milk against Colanthe's 106; in one month Josephine produced 2960 pounds against the Wisconsin cow's 2,783 and she has beaten the Wisconsin cow's average for two, three, four, five, and six months.

The average farmer is satisfied if his cows give ten quarts of milk a day, but Josephine gives enough to fill fifty-four bottles. Giving the average person two-thirds of a pint of milk a day she could supply a hotel with 165 boarders. The utter from her milk would be enough to supply forty boarders three times a day. Naturally with such a high production, the milk given by Josephine is inferior to that given by the average dairy cow, although it meets and exceeds the legal requirements of butter fat. It is estimated that her milk will produce a revenue of $1200 to $1500 a year.—Technical World Magazine for November.

LORD LOVELAND DISCOVERS AMERICA

BY C.N. & A.M. WILLIAMSON

Copyright, 1910, by Doubleday, Page & Company
Copyright, 1908, by the McClure Company

"Did you mind when I cried?" asked Izzie.

"Awfully!" said Loveland. As he spoke he smiled down at her in a friendly way, and the kindness in the blue, black lashed eyes made the girl's heart flutter like an imprisoned bird. She had been in love with him since the first day a little, then more and more. Now her love overflowed. It was too much for her emotional nature. She could not keep it back. And why should she try to keep it back, she asked herself, since her love must be considered an honor by this unsuccessful foreign adventurer?

"I'm glad," she almost sobbed. "Oh, you're worth more to me than anything in the world. I won't cry again if you ask me not. I'll do whatever you want me to. Pa'd most kill me if he knew I was talking like this. But I don't care—I don't care for anybody but you—no one else. Oh, suppose I'd let pa make me marry Leo Cohen before I'd met you!"

Loveland was dumfounded. "My dear girl," he exclaimed, "you don't know what you are saying! You!"

"I do know," Isidora broke in. "I know you are poor and in a lot of trouble, and you might have gone to prison. But you're a gentleman, all right. You're you, and that's enough. If you care about me the same as I do about you, why, all the rest!"

"But I—I mean—I'm sure you don't really care," stammered Val, checking himself on the verge of saying something rude.

"I do care. You needn't be afraid," she assured him. "I wouldn't have said a word. I'd 'a' waited for you to speak if things had been different, but I saw how you felt by the way your eyes looked a minute ago, and I wouldn't stop for manners, because, I say to myself, he's too much of a gentleman to tell a girl he loves her when he's got nothing and she everything."

"I hope I am too much of a gentleman to—Val began desperately, but she cut him short with one little plump, patchouli scented hand over his mouth.

"I know it. That's what I said. You don't need to tell me," she hurried in. "We'll have to run away and get married. Then pa'll forgive me. I'm all he's got. He couldn't bear me to want for anything. But it's no use asking him first. He!"

"Dear girl, I have no idea of asking him!"

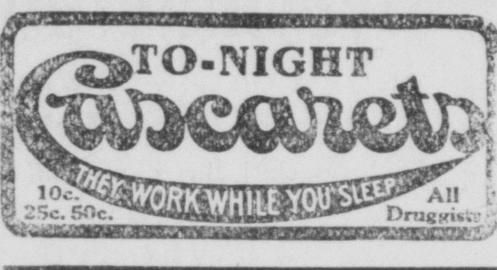

"No, of course. You ain't so silly. His heart's set on my taking Leo, but I wouldn't touch him with a ten foot pole now. My hero, I'll marry you to-morrow!"

"The devil you will!" said Alexander.

They stood together at the door, he and Leo Cohen, who had persuaded the old man at last on one excuse or another to invite him upstairs.

The girl struggled up from her knees, and as Loveland bounded out of the big chair she caught his arm, nestling against him.

"You villain! Stealin' my gal's love behind my back and enticin' her to run off with you!" stuttered Alexander, purple with fury.

"I didn't!" began Val indignantly. "What! You didn't? You want me to believe my gal asked you to marry her?"

Loveland started as if Alexander had struck him and flushed to the forehead. Involuntarily he glanced at Isidora, who looked up at him beseechingly. "Spare me!" the almond eyes implored.

"No, I don't want you to believe that," he said. And how hugely he would have laughed had he been told a few weeks ago that he would let himself be misunderstood and shamed for the sake of a girl like Isidora! But now he did not feel it strange that he should make this sacrifice for her. And, curiously enough, it seemed to be Lesley Dearmer's voice, Lesley Dearmer's eyes, which, haunting him always, bade him spare this common little woman at any cost.

"You are a sneak!" said Alexander. "Ain't you ashamed of yourself?"

"No," answered Loveland.

"Shows what you are, den. You're a thief. You try to steal my daughter because you tink you get her money?"

"Oh, pa, he loves me! It's me he wants!" wailed Isidora, weeping, yet not daring to defend her lover at the expense of womanly self respect.

"You're a little fool, Izzie, or you wouldn't believe any such a thing." Alexander scolded her, somewhat softened by her tears. "A feller like dat—a fraud, a liar!"

"If you were a younger man you wouldn't dare to say that." Loveland cut him short. "It's you who are lying."

"What! You call me a liar? You—you cheat, you convict!" sputtered Alexander. "Take dat for your impudence!" And, rushing at Loveland like an angry bull, he struck him with both podgy fists.

Isidora screamed and seized her father's arms, crying out that he was wicked, cruel, ungrateful to the man who had saved his house from burning.

"Don't be afraid—I'm not going to strike back," Loveland reassured her. "He knows that."

"Yes, he knows dat because he knows youse a coward," Alexander sneered, wheezing asthmatically. "You just git."

"That's exactly what I'm anxious to do," said Loveland. "Goodby, Miss Alexander."

"Oh, you ain't leaving me forever!" cried the girl. "Pa, don't send him away like this. He—he ain't to blame." She hesitated, stammering. Then a wild longing to keep her lover at all hazards overcame fear and scruples. "It was me who!"

"Don't," said Loveland. "You can do no good. I shan't forget your kindness. We won't see each other again, but you must forget tonight and marry some man who can make you happy. Goodby once more." And, pushing past Cohen, who hovered near the door, he sent the commercial traveler sprawling as he walked out of the room.

Black Dick, who had been told to guard the broken window of the restaurant in the master's absence, had heard all or most of the disturbance from the foot of the stairs, and he ran after Loveland to suggest the wisdom of getting money from Alexander.

"He am a mighty wicked ole man," whispered the negro. "You done a lot fur him, an' now he kick you out o' de house widout wages."

"I shall never get a penny from the old beast. It's useless to try," said Loveland heavily, seeing a vision of homeward bound ships sailing away without him on board. "Goodby, Dick. I wish I had something to give you to remember me by, but I haven't."

"Lawd, why I'm a rich man wid money in de bank," protested Dick. "Do you tink because I got a black face I take suffin' off'n you? No; on de odder hand, I lend you what you like, sah, and you pay me back when you like. You've tret me like a gem-man."

Loveland thanked him, curiously touched, and as he refused the loan he found himself, somewhat to his own surprise, shaking hands warmly with the colored cook.

Bill Willing sat reading in the cold corner of the writing room in the Bat hotel. Somehow when he had not denuded himself of his last nickel and could afford to pay for a corner anywhere it was always the coldest corner, because he blithely sacrificed his chances of the warmer ones to others.

"Say, just look at this, my boy!" he exclaimed, his eye sparkling with excitement, as he pointed to a paragraph which he had marked with red ink from a bottle on the table.

"Wanted" was the attractive word which headed the paragraph, and that was what Val had expected, but as he read on he grew puzzled. "Wanted—For repertory work, juvenile leading man; must be tall; good looking; not over thirty; gentlemanly manners and appearance; slim figure; fashionable wardrobe on and off stage; no boozers or loafers need apply. Write at once, inclosing photo and stating experience, age, weight and lowest salary. to Jack Jacobus, managing star tour for Lillie de Lisle, the Little Human Flower, Modunk, O."

"Great Scott, ain't it the grandest ever?" Bill demanded, with a beaming smile. "My little gal, Lillie de Lisle! It's her; it's her! There can't be two Lillie de Lisles. Praise be, I've heard of her again! And she's way up top. She's a star."

"Oh, the girl you used to be in love with at the theater?" asked Loveland.

"Used to be? Was, am and will be till I end my days. Gee, every week whenever there was a spare dime I've always bought this paper to see if I could run across her name and know where she was or what she's doin'.

And here she is a star on a tour of her own, doin' business as a 'little human flower.' Great, ain't it?"

"Why don't you write and say you'd like to have this engagement?"

"Me? Oh, jiminy, am I a good looking—am I under thirty, with a fashionable wardrobe on and off? Huh, mine's mostly off!" Bill laughed and then sighed. "The good Lord didn't make me for no juvenile lead."

"But if she still likes you she'd stretch a point in your favor," Loveland suggested.

"Jacobus wouldn't. He was the property man I told you about that got me the sack on account of Lillie."

"By Jove!" exclaimed Val. "I say, you don't suppose he's married her since?"

"Can't have, at least not unless his wife's gone off the hook," said Bill. "I heard of him not a year ago from one of the boys who used to supe with me. Said Jacobus had married an actress named Thora Moon, a big dark woman in the heavy line. By Jinks, I wish they was advertising for a scene painter instead of juvenile lead."

Wouldn't I just whiz out to Modunk like a shot! Say, Gordon, you wouldn't like the job, would you? Great idea! Why, you're made for it. And you could give the little human flower old Bill's never failing love."

While Mrs. Stowe's Name Heads the List in Present Election, Edgar Allan Poe, Heretofore Neglected, Secures Firm Position, His Name Making the Most Notable Gain of Any of the Eleven Latest Immortals.

New York, Oct. 22.—Dr. John H. MacCracken, chairman of the senate of New York university, announces that these eleven names have been added to the Hall of Fame by the vote of the board of one hundred electors: Harriet Beecher Stowe, 74 votes; Oliver Wendell Holmes, 69; Edgar Allan Poe, 69; Roger Williams, 64; James Fenimore Cooper, 62; Phillips Brooks, 60; William Cullen Bryant, 59; Frances E. Willard, 56; Andrew Jackson, 53; George Bancroft, 53; John Lothrop Motley, 51. Twenty-nine names were chosen in 1900; eleven in 1905 and eleven names in the present election, making the total now inscribed in the Hall of Fame, fifty-one.

Those failing of election by less than ten votes were: Samuel Adams, 41; Daniel Boone, 42; Patrick Henry, 44; Mark Hopkins, 45; Francis Parkman, 45; Charlotte Saunders Cushman, 45; Lucretia Mott, 41; Martha Washington, 43.

General Sheridan received 33 votes and Noah Webster 38. Dr. Morton, the reputed discoverer of anaesthesia, received 35 votes. William Lloyd Garrison received 35 votes and Joseph Henry 39.

Edgar Allan Poe's vote jumped from 42 in 1905 to 69, an increase of 27. Oliver Wendell Holmes jumped from 49 to 69, an increase of 20, his competitors, Lowell and Whittier, having been removed by election. One of the gains is that of Phillips Brooks, whose vote increased from 49 to 60, although no competitor in the same group had been elected meantime.

The vote for Harriet Beecher Stowe of 74 is noteworthy, as no one received such a majority in the last election except Louis Agassiz, and in the first election the number was surpassed only by fourteen names, including Washington, Lincoln, Grant, Emerson and Longfellow. As a result of this election, the author's corner, already the most populous, with the exception of the statesman's corner, doubles its population and goes far ahead of the statesmen in number, indicating the enduring quality of the author's fame.

THE COLONEL IN BOSTON

He Made a Red-Hot Speech Favoring His Old Friend Lodge.

Boston, Oct. 22.—Those who expected that Mr. Roosevelt would say startling things in his speech for Senator Lodge here last night were disappointed. The colonel merely gave a red-hot endorsement of the senator and asked the people of Massachusetts to return to the United States senate a man who always stood for progressive legislation. Mr. Roosevelt played safe on national issues in his speech before an audience of 8,000 persons in the arena.

They are having a lively scrap in this state over the tariff issue, and he dwelt at length on that matter. But he only repeated what he has said a good many times before. He declared that the principle of the tariff is right so far as the Republican party is concerned, but that the method has not been useful. He maintained that the method was the question that must be taken up by a tariff commission. He thought that in the future there would be no trouble if the tariff is adjusted on these lines.

It had been a matter of keen interest to learn how the colonel would reconcile his plea for Senator Beveridge and his plea for Lodge. He did not try to reconcile them. He followed his plan of looking forward and not backward and of hoping that everything would come out satisfactorily in the long run.

This morning the colonel left for a day's journey into New Hampshire to stump for Robert Bass, the progressive candidate for governor.

LOS ANGELES TIMES IS SURE OF ITS CASE

Gen. Otis Convinced He Has Convicting Evidence.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 22.—Detectives who have been probing the Los Angeles Times dynamiting, in which twenty-one men were killed, indicate that they are reasonably sure of the identity of the dynamiters. At the request of the district attorney's office, Judge Bardwell summoned a grand jury to investigate the case. Earl Rogers, chief counsel of General Otis, owner of the times, said:

"We are now sure of the identity of the dynamiters, and we have evidence to convict them when captured."

Bowers, if it were offered to him. There has been much speculation as to the probability of Mr. Kellogg's appointment, and it is understood in official circles that he could have the office if he would accept it.

Three Crews of Balloonists Not Yet Reported.

St. Louis, Oct. 22.—Alarmed at the prolonged silence of three balloon pilots and their aids who left here Monday in the international cup race, the Aero Club of St. Louis has asked the Canadian government to begin a hunt for them. The Basis of a Warrant Issued for J. L. Finkelstein.

Indianapolis, Oct. 22.—A warrant for the arrest of J. L. Finkelstein of Terre Haute, president of the A. L. It is charged in the indictment, a copy of which accompanied the requisition, that Finkelstein bribed one of the highway commissioners to favor him in the purchase of some steel culverts for highway purposes, the amount of the alleged bribe being approximately $85.

Modern Life Would Be Too Hard on the Nerves If It Were Not For Want Advertising

The pace of life has become tense. Worries, disappointments, up-sets at home and office, losses, discouragements seem to multiply as daily life becomes more complex.

The property owner, who MUST have a steady income from rents or lose his property, is "racked" by the untimely defection of a tenant. Some classified advertising quickly retrieves his loss—and quiets his nerves!

The salary-earner unexpectedly loses his position—and his peace-of-mind. The strain would shortly "break" something in his nervous system, if, once more, want advertising did not find the better job—and restore him his mental equilibrium.

In every phase of the city's life, every day, the Want Ads play the part of the peace-maker. They SERVE you and me at some crisis in our lives—and keep the modern pace and tension from proving too fast and tight for US.

Truly, the Want Ads ARE FOR SERVICE!

NEITHER TEAM
ABLE TO SCORE

At the End of Third Quarter Cambridge City Had Failed to Cross
Rushville's Goal Line.

VISITORS COULD NOT MARK

At the end of the third quarter in the football game between the Cambridge City high school and the local high school at the South Main street grounds this afternoon, neither side had been able to score. The period was marked by two or three rather good gains by both teams and several failures at making forward passes.

The game opened by Rushville kicking off to Cambridge City. Don Wright, the plucky captain of the Cambridge City team received the ball and through a broken field ran eighty yards, only to be brought down by Todd. This play was the feature of the first quarter. The ball saw-sawed up and down the field and neither team seemed to have the advantage. During this period, Harry Petry, left halfback of the local team, was injured in making a tackle. He was forced to retire, but it is not thought that his injury will prove serious. The quarter ended with neither team scoring.

The second quarter opened with the ball in possession of Cambridge City. This period was featured by a series of forward passes and several exchanges of punts in which neither team scored.

The lineup was as follows:
Cambridge City—Ingermann, r. e.; Winters, r. t.; Diffenderfer, r. g.; Lain, c.; Behr, l. g.; Bersteh, l. t.; Cosgrove, l. e.; F. Wright, q.; Feewster, l. h.; Scott, f.; D. Wright, captain, r. h.

I would like to have every farmer in Rush county use one of these grinders on trial and I am sure he will never do without it after that.
